

September 2010

To Whom It May Concern:

I am happy to recommend the work of LOPCO Contracting to anyone who is considering a residential home painting and repair project in the Providence, RI area. LOPCO Contracting completed a major exterior painting job for the Sheldon Street Condominium Association in September 2010 and all of our residents were thoroughly pleased with every aspect of the work.

From the time of our Association's initial solicitation of estimates for our project through the final hours of the clean-up that followed its completion, we found Tom Lopatosky and the entire LOPCO Contracting team to be consummate craftsmen who handled every aspect of the job with skill and professionalism.

While we were reviewing various proposals for our project, Tom met with the three owners of the condominium association after submitting his very well prepared estimate and responded to all of our questions and concerns with patience and thoroughness.

After choosing LOPCO Contracting for our project, Tom and his crew kept in touch with us throughout the process and were understanding and accommodating whenever we had questions (or changed our minds about something!). Our project included an entire exterior paint job for a home built in 1870 and a range of external repair work that preceded the surface preparation and painting. For each of these elements of the project the work was done in a timely manner and either within or below the cost estimate Tom had shared with us.

Following completion of the entire project, the property clean-up was handled meticulously and promptly. Even following completion of the job, Tom made a point of checking in with us to ensure that all was well.

For all of these reasons, I enthusiastically recommend the work of LOPCO Contracting and would be happy to share our experience with any prospective LOPCO customer.

Respectfully,

Don Honeman
Treasurer
Sheldon Condominium Association
